

Highlights

Manuscript: JSPI-D-22-00113

- We study the adequacy test of the partial functional linear model when the scalar predictors are measured with additive error.
- A U-statistic type test is proposed, and its asymptotic properties are rigorously proved under the null and the alternative hypotheses.
- The proposed test can control the type I error well, and its power performance is satisfactory.